

Abstract of Disclosure

[0058] This invention describes a portable computing and communication device comprising a display, a touch-panel and game control input mechanisms, an optical and/or magnetic mass storage system, volatile and non-volatile primary memory, wireless data communication, power management, a compact software operating system and other software applications, and methods for using the same.